

Come Join Us!

Come learn about the natural hazards that may impact Shelby County, and what the county is doing to prepare for them. Please join us on November 16th at the Shelby County Emergency Management Agency located at:

800 Fair Rd.
Sidney, OH 45365

At the meeting, you can learn more about the plan, and ask questions about the specific hazards that may impact our communities.

Shelby County Hazard Mitigation Plan Open House

A draft of the Shelby County Hazard Mitigation Plan is ready for review at an Open House on Wednesday, November 16, from 4-6 pm at the EMA offices. The public is welcome to review the plan at the event or view the original and updated plans on-line at shelbyco@shelbyco.net.

The plan addresses natural hazards such as flooding, severe summer and winter storms, tornado and high wind events, earthquake, drought and excessive heat. Attendees will have an opportunity to review the results of a county wide hazard risk assessment and comment on mitigation actions identified to help prevent or minimize the effects of hazard threats to the residents of Shelby County.

April 11, 1965 EF-4 tornado damage

January 5, 2005 Ice Storm wonder

June 17, 2015 Flooding - Cardo Road washout

December 20, 2013 Riverine flooding

Community involvement is very important and all county residents are welcome to respond and give their feedback to the plan. Please direct all comments, suggestions, or questions concerning the plan to Cheri Drinkwine, Shelby County EMA Director at: shelbycountyema@gmail.com or call 937-492-5635.
